Probable Interview Questions

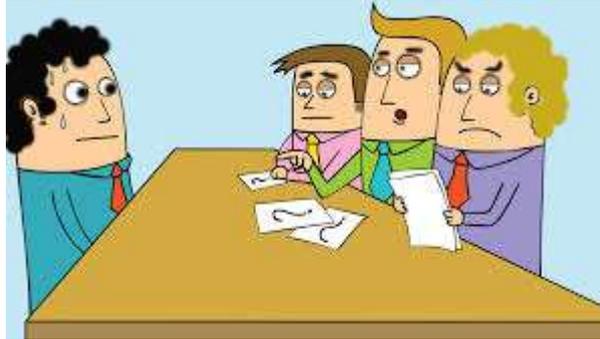

- Tell us about yourself
 - Always focus on your strengths relevant to the job
 - You may tell the interviewer about your other skills as well

Probable Interview Questions

- Would you call yourself a team player?
 - Yes
 - Support your answer with evidence from past experience

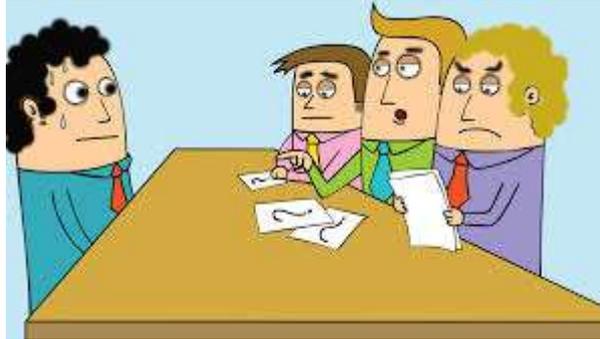

Probable Interview Questions

- Why should we employ you?
 - List out your strengths that are relevant to the job

e.g.: I have good coordination skills, My greatest asset is my ability to motivate people, etc.

Probable Interview Questions

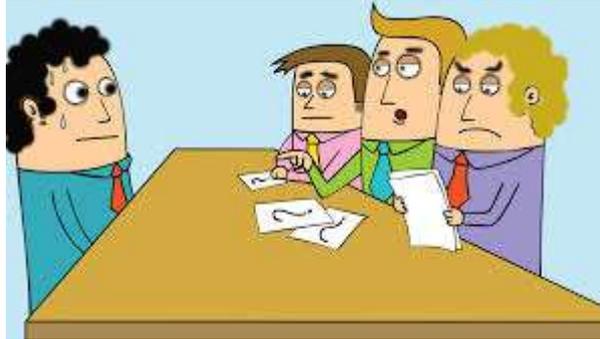

- Do you have offers from other companies?
 - Be honest
 - Whatever your answer is, it should match your career goals

Probable Interview Questions

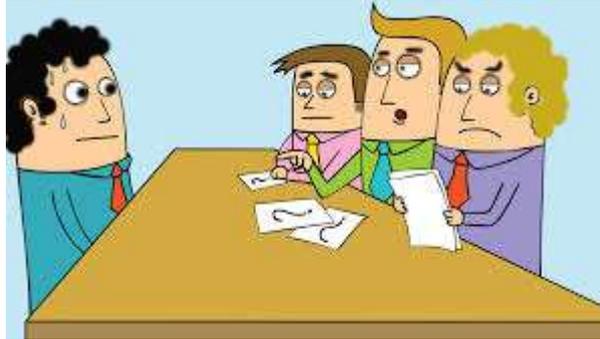

- What salary are you expecting?
 - Try not to get into salary details early unless you are pressed
 - If you have done your homework, you would know how much people in similar jobs are paid
 - You may tell them that you would accept a salary that the company would think reasonable for you

Probable Interview Questions

- How much do you think you are worth?
 - Be honest
 - Do not under estimate or over estimate yourself

Probable Interview Questions

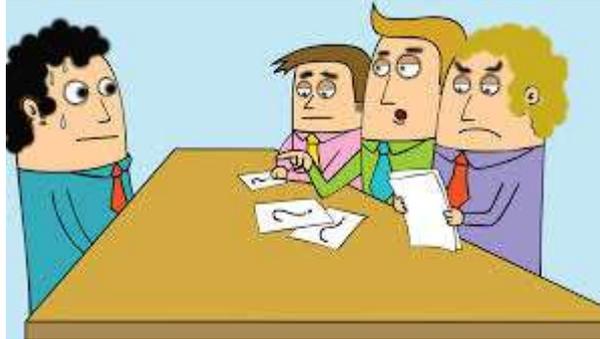

- What kind of a culture are you comfortable with?
 - Be clear about your preference
 - This way, the employer would get a clear picture of your preference

Probable Interview Questions

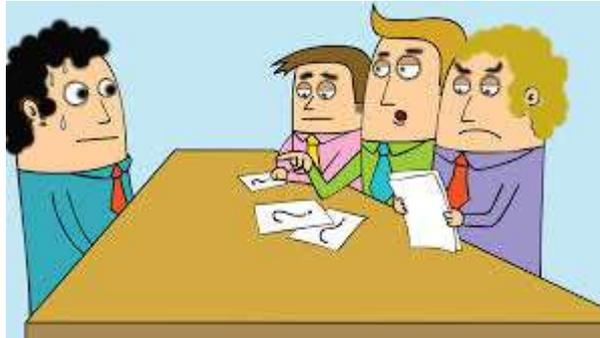

- What is more important to you – salary or growth opportunities?
 - This will reveal the real you
 - You may tell them that you value growth opportunities more with a reasonable salary

Probable Interview Questions

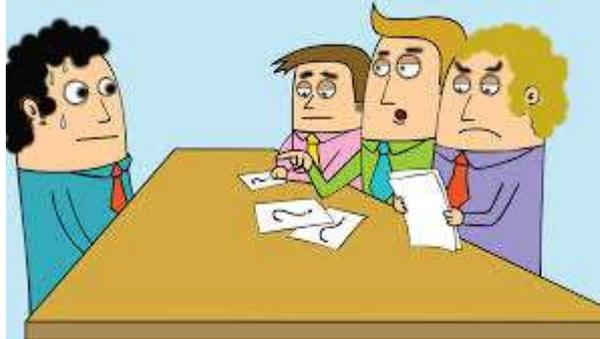

- What do you know about our company?
 - Do not give your opinion about the company
 - Stick to reported facts that you have gathered such as, product portfolio, size, income, customers, etc.

Probable Interview Questions

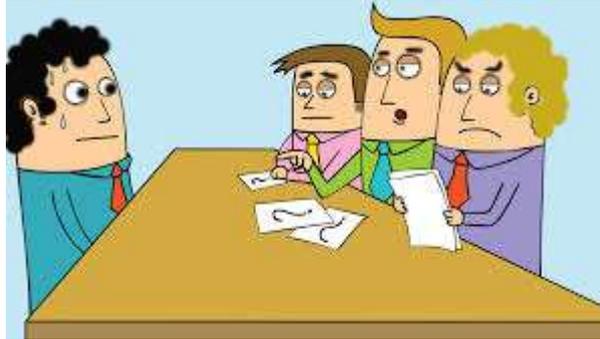

- Tell us about your strengths and weaknesses
 - Remember to state both strengths and weaknesses
 - Be careful that the weaknesses you mention are not construed as problem areas that could negatively impact the company.

Probable Interview Questions

- Where do you see yourself in 5 or 10 years?
 - Talk about your positive goals that bear a positive impact on the company as well

Probable Interview Questions

- What are your plans for higher studies?
 - Once again, talk about the positive plans that are related to the company.
